Your Personal Book Nerd's Real Secret to an Extraordinary Life

It seems in the always-on, instant-results society we live in, people spend countless hours (and dollars!) searching for IT. That one thing, the secret, that will bring them happiness, money, time, love, self-esteem, a career boost, weight loss, you name it.

My fellow Book Nerds, this search is nothing new.....

In 2006, Rhonda Byrnes's mega-best seller The Secret revealed the "secret" to be the Law of Attraction (which attracted tens of millions of dollars to Byrnes, by the way).

In 1976 Earl Nightingale's The Strangest Secret told us that the "secret" was man becomes what he thinks about. Nightingale, a genius before his time, was largely ignored and his wisdom left untapped.

And back in 1937, Napoleon Hill changed the world with Think and Grow Rich, in which his "secret" was definitiveness of purpose.

While I agree with the above concepts – to varying degrees – each of those concepts are conceptual in nature. Which is great. There's definitely a time & place for conceptual thinking in your personal development journey.

However, the cold hard truth in today's world is that you need to have action-based thinking on a daily basis. Action, not concepts, is what will get you RESULTS. And aren't results what we're all after?

Action, not concepts, is what will get you RESULTS.

Today, I'm going to reveal to you the real "secret" to an extraordinary life. It's simple. It's cheap. Everyone can do it (yes, even busy people). And best of all: IT WORKS.

So, you may ask: what is it already?!

In a word: reading. Yes, really!

Let me clarify. I'm not just talking about passive, fiction reading time. I am talking about daily, dedicated reading time in a variety of non-fiction genres.

Reading with purpose, using a proven system to transform knowledge into results.

Now, I can literally feel your eyes rolling as I write this. Let me use my psychic powers to divine what some of you are thinking:

“I’m just not a reader.” “I don’t have time to read.” “I don’t need to read.”

I say this with great respect: YES, YOU ARE. YES, YOU DO. YES, YOU MUST!

And I’m not alone in my thinking.

Personal Development legend Tony Robbins just happens to agree with me. His take on reading is below. How do I know this? Tony Robbins and I are close personal friends and he told me this recently. Just kidding. Actually, I read his latest book Money: Master the Game and that’s my source of inspiration. Here’s Robbins, in his own words:

“The financial crisis [of 2008] caused tremendous pain, but it also made us reevaluate what’s most important in our lives – things that have nothing to do with money. It was a time to get back to basics, to the values that have sustained us through troubled times before. For me, it made me remember the days when I was sleeping in my car homeless and searching for a way to change my life. How did I do it?”

Books!

They helped to establish me. I’ve always been a voracious reader: as a young man, I decided I was going to read a book a day. I figured leaders are readers. I took a speed-reading course. I didn’t quite read a book a day, but over 7 years I did read more than 700 books to find the answers to help myself and others. Books on psychology, time management, history, philosophy, physiology. I wanted to know about anything that could immediately change the quality of my life and anyone else’s.”

So...I think that whole reading 700 books thing worked out pretty well for him.

And let’s not forget famous actor/musician Will Smith. Here’s what Smith had to say to his audience when he accepted a Children’s TV award:

“The keys to life are running and reading.

When you're running, there's a little person that talks to you and says, "Oh I'm tired. My lung's about to pop. I'm so hurt. There's no way I can possibly continue." You want to quit. If you learn how to defeat that person when you're running. You will how to not quit when things get hard in your life.

For reading: there have been gazillions of people that have lived before all of us. There's no new problem you could have--with your parents, with school, with a bully. There's no new problem that someone hasn't already had & written about it in a book (emphasis mine)

Well said, Mr. Smith. Well said.

My beloved mentor, the late Jim Rohn, said it best. You can read his essay on my blog: <http://pwbooksummaries.com/book-nerd-blog-need-read-heres-according-tojim-rohn/> on why you need to read more. Rohn said it far better than I ever could.

I could go on (and on and on....) but you get the point. Every top achiever in life reads. It is a success habit of achievers, millionaires and it should be YOURS too.

Every top achiever in life reads.

I've developed a 'secret' of my own, a 3-step personalized success system that features a monthly book summary subscription. It's called Pebble Wisdom Book Summaries+ and it shows people how to read their way to success in as little as 15 minutes/day.

Normally this service is reserved exclusively for my PWBS+ subscribers. For a limited time, I've got some incredible content you can access – for free! Here's the link:
